Kids and cockleburrs

Watch your life and doctrine closely. Persevere in them. 1 Timothy 4:16

Have you ever experienced the sting of cockleburrs in your shoes? They are armed with dozens of sharp spines that grab your socks and eventually work their way into the skin. They're terribly annoying.

Cockleburrs are remarkable in that inside their prickly seedpods are not just one, but several seeds, and they germinate in different years. If the first seed fails to sprout one year due to poor conditions, the second is still waiting in the ground for the next season. And if that one doesn't take root, there is still a third seed waiting for the year after that.

Cockleburrs can tell us something about parenting. When the "seeds" of your instruction on life and faith fail to germinate, the effort seems in vain. Yet if you persist in your teaching and in setting a godly example, your endeavors are likely to be rewarded (1Tim 4:16). Like a cocklebur seed that lies dormant for a decade or more, the lessons you plant now may one day break through and blossom in the hearts and minds of your children.
-Dr. James Dobson

Meet the Staff

Lindsey McKinnley is fairly new to our team but she fits in perfectly. She began working here in 2019 as our assistant director and we are so lucky to have her. She and her husband, Dustin, have 3 boys that all attend HHCA -Lucas (7), Zach (5), Axel (18 m). They both serve on staff at New Life Ministries church in Milledgeville as Youth directors. She LOVES chocolate, coffee has a heart for raising up the next generation to know the Lord. Say Hello! next time you see her.

GET INVOLVED!

Join our donor seeking team! We are looking for parents, grandparents, family members or friends that have a heart for this school, and our mission, who can put hands and feet to helping us grow support for the school financially. Our desire is it continue to serve the community for years to come.

Next Meeting: Monday, March 9th 5-6:30pm
